

Graeme Mew is a graduate of Law from Kingston University in the UK, and from the University of Windsor. He's a partner in the Toronto office of Nicholl Paskell-Mede LLP. His main areas of practice include civil and commercial litigation, public law, private international law, insurance law, contract and tort law, sports law, business disputes, professional liability, and liability of directors and officers. Mr. Mew acts as panel arbitrator and/or mediator with several ADR organizations in Canada and internationally. He is very active also in sports tribunals and regularly conducts arbitrations or mediations for the Sport Dispute Resolution Centre of Canada, the Court of Arbitration for Sport (Switzerland), Sport Resolutions (UK), the National Anti-Doping Panel (UK), the Football Association (England) and the International Rugby Board.